THE MILITARY MUTINY.

Deportation of the Ringleaders.

The military mutiny of Monday was discussed in a Cabinet Council on Tuesday afternoon, at which it was resolved to deport from the country a certain number of military officers and civilians whose presence was considered dangerous to the public peace. Orders were accordingly imparted to the Prefect of Police for the arrest of the following:

General Casimiro Garcia; General Simon Martinez, President of the Military Tribunal of Appeal; Generals M. A. Navajas, Osvaldo Rodriguez and Benigno Carabamba, members of the Supreme Military Tribunal; General Ricardo Estevan (military leader of the mutiny) and Col. Luis Queirolo, members of the Council of State; General Valentin Martinez; General Santos Arribio; Col. Manuel M. Rodriguez (the traitorous Chief of the Heavy Artillery); Col. Ricardo Flores (who gave his word of honor before the Military Tribunal recently that he entertained no seditious intentions towards the Government, and yet was one of the principals in the revolt); Major Isasmendi (the traitorous 2nd Chief of the Light Artillery when the revolt began); Col. Eugenio Toledo, Citizens Eugenio Garzon (the idus Achates of Julio Herrera; Pedro Varela; Dr. Miguel Herrera; Dr. Federico Acosta y Lara (well-merited on account of his shameful attitude in the late Chambers); Justo R. Pelayo; Dr. Eduardo Chucarro hijo (President of the "collectivists" Club Cruzada Libertadora); Enrique Kubly y Artega and the notorious Dr. Angel Brian. It is expected that others will be added to the list, but their names have not yet transpired. The participation of some of the officers named above was not suspected by the general public, though no doubt the Government has acted on reliable information.

The majority of the above-named conspirators were arrested in the course of Tuesday afternoon, without attempt at resistance, and taken to the Cabildo, where they were treated with every courtesy and allowed free intercourse with their friends and relatives. Some of them were allowed to go to their houses on parole, to see their families and pack their travelling bags. In due time they were taken down to the mole, with a strong guard, and shipped on board the "Eolo" for Buenos Aires. Only their relations were allowed on the mole to see them off, though there was a considerable crowd at the gates. Most of them kept up high spirits and seemed to regard the affair as rather a good joke. Some of them protested loudly that they were being wrongfully accused. General Simon Martinez and Sr. Pedro Varela were allowed to remain on shore on account of family illness. General Casimiro Garcia was allowed to remain until yesterday. Dr. E. Chucarro was not found by the police until late in the evening, but was released soon after being arrested, the order for his deportation being revoked. Col. Toledo also was not found until late, and was sent away yesterday. The great Dr. Angel

Brian was in hiding and we have not yet heard of his arrest (more's the pity). Dr. Angel Floro Costa was not included in the list, but voluntarily accompanied the exiles (no loss after his mischievous propaganda).

Deportation to Buenos Aires is hardly any punishment at all, and in fact they can conspire and plot mischief there almost as easily as here. The step does not in the least satisfy public opinion, which desired to see the military leaders, if not the others, severely dealt with. This, however, seems to have been impossible after Sr. Cuestas' having promised that no military proceedings should be taken—a promise which nearly every one has regretted as weak and dangerous for the future.

Publication has been made of three letters exchanged on Monday between Dr. Juan Carlos Blanco and General Estevan as leaders of the revolt, and which are now said to be the only signed documents in the business. It cannot be said that they throw much light on the business. The mutineers pretend to have been actuated by desire to benefit their party and their country (they have a strange way of showing it) and, echoing the absurd phrase recently invented from the razon, demand of Sr. Cuestas "a policy broader, more humane and free from cliques." (Why did not they demand this from Julio Herrera and Idiarte Borda, of whose narrow minded policy they might have complained with justice? The Publication of the letters has only made their conduct appear worse than ever, for they show themselves unable to formulate a single serious demand to justify their revolt.)

In our chronicle of yesterday we omitted to make honorable mention of the 1st Chasseurs and the Urban Battalion, both which fought valiantly on behalf of the Government, and lost several men. In fact, with the exception of the two Artillery Regiments, all the forces remained perfectly loyal, and the reports to the contrary are mere "collectivist" slanders, as also the report that the Chiefs of the regiments had all signed a promise to share in the revolt but turned round when the critical moment arrived. It also transpires that several of the subordinate officers of the Artillery Regiments, and the men of the same, were kept in complete ignorance of the real nature of the movement, and until too late to retract actually imagined they were fighting on behalf of the Government against the revolt of the other regiments. As to the men, they simply obeyed the orders of their superiors (an example of the danger of the military theory of unreasoning and blind obedience.) This only makes the treachery of the leaders the more detestable. The only deserters from the Government forces were about a dozen men of the Squadron of Security and a few of the Extramural Police misled by Com. Riffaud, all of whom have since been arrested. As to the people, with the exception of a very few ardent "collectivists," it is absolutely false that the movement found any support or encouragement at all; on the contrary, it could not have been more heartily condemned and execrated. It was purely a military and barrack mutiny of the worst kind, inspired by the basest of motives, and carried out by the most savage and treacherous of methods.

Various forces which arrived from the interior on Monday night and Tuesday morning to aid the Government have been sent back to their quarters. The revolt does not seem to have found the least echo in the interior, notwithstanding the alleged disaffection of some of the Departments.

An Order of the Day has been issued from the Staff Office conveying the hearty thanks and congratulations of the Government to the Chiefs, Officers and men who loyally fought on its behalf, and expressing condolence with the killed and wounded. A similar Order has been issued to the police. Several promotions will be announced shortly, first on the list being Major Bouquet of the Plantel de Artilleria and Col. Pollo of the 4th Chasseurs.

The number of killed and wounded seems to be less than we calculated. In the Caridad Hospital there are 76 wounded being treated (five or six have died since Monday) and about 30 in the Italian Hospital.

It is stated that the Government has decided to divide the Arsenal into two, in different quarters of the city. After the experience of Monday this will be a wise precaution. It seems that a large quantity of arms and munition has disappeared, and the police are searching for it actively. Some have already been found in a suspected house in Calle Carapé.

The death of Major Arenas of the Urban Battalion is fortunately contradicted; he was not even wounded.

The President has ordered payments ranging from $40 to $10 each to be made to each of the officers and men wounded in defence of the Government.

Col. Antonio Marquez and Lieut. Col. C. Morador have been placed in temporary command of the Light Artillery. The latter was 1st Chief of the regiment, but was not implicated in the revolt.

Since writing the above we learn of further arrests. Dr. Brian has been taken, also Col. Toledo, Com. Debali, Capt. Ciriano Burgos, Col. Martin Echeverry (ex Chief of the 4th Chasseurs) and Captain Lerena, all of whom we believe were deported yesterday. The notorious Lieut. Belen is also under arrest.

According to revelations made by the "collectivists" the revolt had been long in preparation and was originally intended to break out on June 15.

The Razon of yesterday afternoon reproduces articles from the leading Buenos Aires papers, all condemning the revolt in the severest terms as atavistic and discreditable in every way. Judging from this we do not think the exiles will meet with much sympathy in Buenos Aires.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Some sensation was caused yesterday afternoon by the announcement that Dr. Juan Carlos Blanco had resigned both as President and Member of the Council of State. We are not yet able to state the reasons for the step, but we imagine it is related to the political intrigues of recent weeks.

It is officially announced that conversion of the Treasury Certificates for September, and issue of those for June will commence next Monday.

THE DESERTION FROM BRITISH SHIPS QUESTION.

Admiral Field's question concerning desertions from British ships is one which arouses the deepest interest of all who have the welfare of the British Mercantile Marine at heart. The Under Secretary of State has promised that he will instruct Her Majesty's Consuls at New York, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Portland (O), Boston, Rio de Janeiro, Rosario, and Marseilles to report upon the subject of desertions of British seamen. Needless to say, the result of these investigations will be awaited with much concern, for it is little short of a national scandal and disgrace that the forecastle of British ships should have come to be tacitly regarded as the peculiar property of the foreigner. We are sufficiently open minded on the subject to admit the desirability of free trade in labour so far as is expedient, but when it comes to our ships being manned by an increasing number of foreigners, it is quite time that something should be done to check this deplorable tendency. It is not so much the engagement of aliens at British ports that does the harm; it is the engagement of them abroad that constitutes the fountain-head of the mischief. Shipowners and shipmasters—or shall we say some of them?—aver that it is the fault of the British sailor himself that he finds the foreigner ousting him from what used to be regarded as his own peculiar domain. He will desert whenever he gets a chance, and as a new crew must be shipped, and the men who offer—or be taken, the insidious foreigner thus secures an entry, and continues in a service in which he gets better pay and treatment than under his own flag.

According to the Daily Mail's sources of information, the leakage through desertion at the ports we have enumerated is 14,000 per annum—a truly enormous aggregate. As to why British-shipped seamen should so desert there are many causes alleged. It is stated, perhaps with some degree of truth, that these desertions are in part induced—in other words that there are certain conditions under which it is to the benefit of the ship to clear out her men at a foreign port. These conditions are when a vessel is compelled to lie awaiting a cargo for weeks or months, and when foreign seamen are forthcoming at a considerably lower wage than would have to be paid to the British article. We do not pretend to say to what extent the operation of these forces induces shipmasters to connive at the desertion of their crews. Strong proof, however, must be forthcoming before the bare statement that such reprehensible tactics are resorted to can be accepted. We would prefer to believe that in great measure the desertions are chiefly caused by the machinations of that harpy, the crimp, and the sheer unadulterated, irresponsible cunningness of the British sailor. The crimp promises better pay, a good time &c., while the sailor is wearied of his voyage, his ship, and his massmates, and wants a change. So to relieve this tertium quid he deserts, leaving perhaps a goodly sum of hard-earned wages behind him. Now, what becomes of this money? We all know what should become of it? Does the ship benefit unjustly from these defaulting seamen? This is a subject upon which Parliamentary investigation would doubtless throw some light. We trust it will. Meanwhile, until the information is forthcoming, the report of our Consul at Dunkirk contains some pertinent observations upon the matter. He states that many British steamers which paid off their crews at the port did so because wages were 10 to 15 shillings per month cheaper than at Cardiff, and hence a considerable saving was effected. He instances a case too, in which a large English vessel had only one hand among her crew—and that the boatswain—who was of English birth. We do not wish to decry the mass of foreign seamen, but there is one feature of the case which shipmasters who advocate the employment of alien, in preference to British, labour would do well to take note of. The foreign A.B., in many cases, works his way upwards, and in time takes his master's ticket and competes for employment with the captain who first placed him on the bottom rung of the ladder.

After all, we still think that the suggestion we made when the Light Dues question was under discussion is the best solution of the sailor question. Let the Government relieve shipowners from the Light Dues, and insist as a quid pro quo that British born respectable sailor apprentices are carried in numbers proportional to the tonnage. Such a scheme would eliminate the foreigner, check desertion, and preserve to British sailors their natural heritage—the forecastle of each vessel flying the red ensign.

THE WAR.
Yesterday's telegrams were mainly occupied in trying to deny the destruction of Admiral Corvera's squadron. It appears that in Spain it was believed that the squadron had shown the U. S. fleet a clean pair of heels and got away unscathed, and the Spanish people were celebrating this with their usual delirious enthusiasm, tales to the contrary being regarded as Yankee inventions. Gradually, however, the truth seems to have leaked out, but it was not until yesterday morning that an official acknowledgement was at last extracted from Sr. Sagasta that the "glorious" squadron of Admiral Corvera had been completely destroyed. The disillusion has been terrible, and serious disorders are feared. The Spanish Cabinet is said to have decided to continue the war a l'outrance, confiding in the ability of the forces to hold Cuba. The English and European papers all say that the time for peace has arrived and recommend Spain to open negotiations, as she has done all that honor can exact.

The Spanish losses in the great naval combat of Sunday are now said to be 350 killed, 150 wounded and 1600 taken prisoners. The only vessel which struck the flag was the flagship "Cristobal Colon," which did so when she ran ashore. Her entire crew were taken prisoners. Captain Lazaga, Commander of the "Almirante Oquendo" committed suicide when he saw his vessel lost. All the American telegrams speak in the highest terms of the personal bravery shown by the Spaniards in the combat.

There seems to be no advance in the situation of Santiago, on the contrary it is said that General Pando with a force of 6000 men has succeeded in entering the city (we thought he was there before). Admiral Sampson has been ordered to see if he can enter the bay to cooperate with the U. S. forces in the bombardment. The non-combatants are rapidly evacuating the city. Several of the mines laid in the bay have already been discovered and destroyed. The British cruisers Pallas and Alert have arrived before Santiago. General Schafter is suffering severely from varicose veins and unable to rise from his bed.

It is once more stated that Admiral Camara's squadron, excepting the torpedo vessels which have returned to Messina, have passed the Suez Canal. We hear nothing more of the intended invasion of Spain.

The Sultan of Morocco has proclaimed his neutrality (he has been long enough making up his mind.)

SUNDRIES.

All three of our English contemporaries in Buenos Aires contain the most grotesque and exaggerated accounts of the revolt here on Monday last. Amongst other things they say that the 3rd and 4th Chasseurs sided with the revolt, that the barracks of the latter were blown to pieces, that 350 police and 600 armed members of the clubs Ricardo Flores and Cruzada Libertadora (do they boast 400 members between them?) were fighting with the revolution, that Sr. Cuestas fled to the Cabildo and offered to hand over the Government to General Tajes, that the Central Railway Station was in power of the revolution, that the killed and wounded numbered 800, that everyone seen in the streets was pressed into fighting for the Government, that Cuestas had implored the aid of foreign war vessels, that a force of British Marines had been landed, that the foreign residents were flying to the war vessels for safety, etc., etc.

Every one of the statements mentioned above may be set down as absolutely false. It is evident that our contemporaries, all three of them, have drawn their inspiration from the Diario of Buenos Aires. Surely they ought to know by this time that the Diario is the organ of Julio Herrera and his friends, that for a long time past it has systematically circulated the falsest and most malicious statements about political events in Montevideo, and that its statements are regarded here as a matter for laughter and contempt.

Having no organ in the press here and being unable to deceive public opinion, Dr. Herrera and his party avail themselves of the Diario of Buenos Aires to mystify and deceive public opinion there, and, judging by our English contemporaries which have fallen easily into the trap, not without a certain measure of success. Thus we find even to-day the B. A. Standard asserting that "Sr. Cuestas proclaimed himself dictator," a statement that we have contradicted until we are tired, referring to him as "a vulgar and ambitious politician," and representing his government as oppressive and obnoxious. It is really time that our Buenos Aires contemporaries shook off these mischievous and absurd errors and took the trouble to ascertain the truth about affairs in Uruguay.

The late Lord Playfair used to tell with great relish of an amusing experience he once encountered in Canada. Strolling with semi scientific aim among some phosphate diggings, he came across a Scotch quarryman, with whom he fell into interesting talk. The quarryman proved to be quite capable of discussing abstruse subjects intelligently, and while talking he mentioned incidentally that Dr. Lyon Playfair said so-and-so. Lord Playfair was Dr. Lyon Playfair in those days. He revealed his identity to the quarryman and expressed astonishment that he should be of repute in this comparatively remote part of the world. "Man," was the answer, "yer name's travelled further than ever yer wee legs'll carry ye."

—Doctor—(to Gilbert, aged four).
—"Put your tongue out, dear."
—Little Gilbert protruded the tip of his tongue. Doctor—"No, no, put it right out." The little fellow shook his head weakly, and the tears gathered in his eyes—"I can't, doctor; it's fastened on to me."

—There has been acquired for the British Museum Reading Room a facsimile of the original manuscript of Bret Harte's poem "The Heathen Chinee," which first appeared in the "Overland Monthly" of San Francisco, in September, 1870. The deletions and additions on this M. S. show that in these days Bret Harte rubbed into his work what Trollope, writing of Thackeray, called "mental elbow-grease."

—H. M. S. "Flora," flagship on this station, returned to this port yesterday, having been summoned on account of the disturbances that have occurred. She will remain for some days.

—London telegrams announce the successful launching of two new war vessels at Devonport the armour-clad "Ocean," 13,000 tons displacement, and at Yarrow the cruiser "Amphitrite" of a new and superior type.

—The Caridad Lottery will be played today, not yesterday as erroneously announced in our last. The $50,000 lottery will be played on the 16th.

—Vassar, Syracuse, Cornell, Wellesley, and Rosemary Hall have each their teams of girl basketball players, athletics being now a recognised branch of women's training in the States. The system of training for the game excludes all sweets and pastry, and forbids sitting up late at night. There is to be an intercollegiate championship decided this season. Men are not admitted, to any of the contests. At Rosemary Hall the girls have, in addition to basketball a base ball nine, and a football eleven. Wellesley has a "varsity" boat crew as well, besides several champion girl runners and high jumpers. Golf and hockey are gaining ground in America for women players.

"WHERE THERE'S A WILL." (A SHORT STORY) (Continued)

Idea, like facts, are stubborn things, and this particular idea having obtained possession of Mr. Poltimore's brain, refused to be evicted. Major Callenden, with friendly interest, strove to bring him to a sounder frame of mind.

Major Callenden was so positive in his assertions that Mr. Poltimore was somewhat shaken in the gloomy views he held of the possibilities of life, and of what might yet be in store for him.

"You certainly are the queerest fellow I ever met," said Major Callenden. "I almost wonder you don't look upon it as a deadweight."

"Now, don't begin lamenting that you are not steeped in poverty," said the Major. "Man, you are not fit to run loose; you ought to be under the charge of a keeper, and the best one you can have is Lady Lumsdaine."
