EXPRESSIONS

—We are glad to notice that several of the papers are taking up the question of Sunday Labour, recently raised in Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro. El Bien does so on religious grounds, El Telégrafo, Maritimo and others on social grounds. There is not the least doubt that there is an enormous amount of Sunday labour here, especially amongst the shopkeeping classes, and most of it very futile or unnecessary. Whether from a religious, social or physiological point of view, this is very objectionable, and we would be glad to see it checked.

—On week days also, the hours kept in many of our shops, especially the almacenes, fondas and confeiterias are monstrously long; whilst such an institution as the weekly half-holiday, now so general in England, is quite unknown.

—The best—or worst—of it is that all the business done by very many of these places could well be compressed into some four days of eight hours each. The rest of the time is occupied in waiting for customers, gossiping, rolling cigarettes or taking mate.

—The truth of it is that the shop going public have got into a bad, inconsiderate habit of doing their shopping at all sorts of unreasonable hours. They never think of getting anything till the last moment and then expect the shops to be kept open, night and day, to suit their convenience.

—The shopkeepers are also to blame for having encouraged this bad habit in their patrons and having given way to unreasonable exactions.

—A little combination among the shopkeepers would soon bring about a healthier state of affairs, and some of the same tone amongst their employees would obtain for them shorter hours and a fair allowance of Sundays and holidays. We should be glad to see both come to pass.

—As we pointed out in an article on this subject several months ago, it is a gross absurdity that the shops of this city, with their little trade and pottering business, should require hours often twice as long as those of shops doing ten times their business in the great English centres.

—In a day or two we hope to be able to give the full programme for the Athletic Sports together with all the entries and handicaps. The list is a surprisingly formidable one and augurs a very brilliant meeting.

—Says the H. A. Herald,—"We see prominently figuring among the magnates of a marvellous financial scheme a man who owes little bills all over the city, which he appears to have forgotten, making no effort to pay, although he talks big figures. This is but an illustration of what is taking place all about in these days of bubble blowing. Much the same here, friend Herald, much the same here.

—We read of a strange affair at a performance at the National Theatre in Buenos Aires. The principal actor imitated a fit so well that it proved contagious, and two ladies had to be taken out, one after the other, in convulsions. No sooner was this little excitement over, than the audience was alarmed by the appearance of a person in one of the boxes, deadly pale and to all appearance inanimate. Examination showed, however, that the hand of Bacchus, not that of Pallida Mora, was upon him.

—A more comic incident is reported from a small provincial theatre. Don Juan was the play. Don Juan was very small, the Doña Inés very large and stout. Consequently the gallant rascal had to get four men to carry off his charmer from the convent, which they did amidst roars of laughter. In the last act the Statue of the Comendador, dressed in white drawers and a white sheet, stood in a draught, caught cold, and had a violent sneezing fit. This was too much for anyone's risible faculties and the play ended in utter confusion.

—Something wrong with the mails again. In Buenos Aires we note that they had London dates up to November 2nd on Monday. Here, we only received them yesterday.

—We give a large instalment of latest London news to-day, more to follow to-morrow.

—We hope our readers noticed a little article in our yesterday's issue headed "Chair-Marking," reprinted from a London paper. It is significant that this "chair-marking" which is condemned and punished there, is the very process which is supposed to be enforced by the Municipal regulations for Servants' regulation in Buenos Aires, and which some too zealous persons are trying to introduce here.

—We are indebted to the H. A. Standard for the two following items:—"On Saturday morning close to the Bola Works a Spaniard named Dios employed at the works was knocked down by a passing train and both legs were lacerated and broken. Dr. Cooper was in attendance in a few minutes, and wished to send him immediately to the British Hospital and had him put on a 'camilla' for the purpose. An officious Vigilante, No. 1910, came on the scene and put his veto on the arrangement and refused to let the man be removed till his Jefe came and granted the Dr's certificate. The unfortunate man had to wait till his Excellency the Comodoro arrived some time later. This abominable red-tape system in case of injured persons ought to be put a stop to, in the name of humanity and common sense."

—The family residence of our popular American consul is crowded daily to welcome Mr. Lewis Baker on his arrival from the Western States, after an absence of 14 years. Although until recently a Government official (military dept.), Mr. Baker has spent most of his life in the editor's chair (harder seat by far than the proverbial deal bench) of some of the best papers in the North, and we welcome him as a brother of the pen. Mr. Baker is surprised at the gigantic strides this city has made, but fresh wonders await him next week in Rosario where his younger brother so ably represents the great American Republic.

—We call the attention of our readers to the Manifests of the B. Aires' Workmen as reprinted in another column. Its very sensible and moderate tone should meet with general approbation and dispel the fears of those who thought the country was undermined with the evils of socialism. We wonder how much attention will be paid by the Police to that part of the protest that applies to them, and which is very much called for.

WORKMEN'S ASSOCIATION OF BUENOS AIRES.

The Workers' general meeting has directed their Committee to publish a manifesto on the following basis:—

1st. Generally speaking, the strikes are the result of the capitalists' organization. In the present case, the strikes going on here are the natural consequence of the hard economical situation of the workers, which situation was created and fostered by the unwise financial policy of the Government (indirect taxes, etc.) and the unrestrained speculations of bankers and capitalists (forced currency, speculations on gold, etc.).

2nd. Strikes are a born right of individual freedom, the free exercise of which the workers want and require for the defence of their interests.

3rd. In consequence, the meeting protests against the false assertions of the capitalist Press that affirms that the actual strikes are an artificial work of the Socialists.

4th. The meeting protests also in a quite special way against the conduct of the police and against arbitrary imprisonment of the strikers. If such things are to be continued, their authors and abettors shall be made responsible by the workers of the unhappy consequences that eventually follow such conduct.

5th. The first and most necessary means of the working classes are their organization according to their kind of work.

II.

On the motion of exchanging views with capitalists, the meeting elected a Committee with powers to open negotiations with the Industrial Club to discuss the social questions; and eventually to find their solution. The Committee comprises Messrs Malatesta, Winger, Raux, Rabassa, Sauter, Braun, Fiebken, Mattei.—H. A. Standard.

BRAZILIAN AFFAIRS.

(Rio News. Nov. 24.)

After a continuous session of over six months (May 3rd to November 20th), including several prorogations, the General Assembly for the current year has closed up and gone home. Notwithstanding the important questions awaiting solution, very little has been accomplished. The famous abolition act of May 13th is a noteworthy exception to the usual sterility of these legislative sessions, but it was as great a surprise to the Chambers as to the country at large. Noble and praiseworthy as it is, it must be considered an obstacle, the removal of a great wrong. It abolished a vicious and unjust system of labor and forced the country into the adoption of another. This act should have been followed by constructive legislation of the most liberal character in order to assist the transformation of labor and mitigate the hardships attendant upon so radical a change. Nothing of the kind, however, has been done.

The reactionists seized the first opportunity to dominate the Senate and place the ministry and its supporters upon the defensive, and this has been the attitude of public affairs during the greater part of the session. The "banks of emission" project introduced last session, distantly modeled after the American national system, passed the Senate August 14th and was voted blindly by the Chamber just before adjournment. It may be considered a step in advance, but the system is so crippled by ignorant conditions that few good results are likely to spring from it. Experience, however, will probably suggest the necessary changes. The liberal freedom of worship bill passed by the Senate this session, was effectively blocked in the Chamber by church intrigue and a petition signed by 14,000 women. The regular budgets were eventually passed by means of prorogued sessions.

The most important of these is the budget of the

LATEST
FOREIGN NEWS

London, Friday, October 27.

The Attorney-General resumed his opening speech before the Parnell Commission yesterday. He spoke at first of what he called the American part of his case, and went on to allude to the formation of the Land League and its operations in Ireland and the United States. Later in the day he alluded to the National League, and is to continue his argument in regard to it when the Court reassembles this morning.

A letter has been received from the Home Office by Mrs. Barnett, at St. Jude's Vicarage, Commercial-street, stating that the Queen has been graciously pleased to receive the petition from women inhabitants of Whitechapel praying that steps may be taken to suppress the moral disorders in that neighbourhood. The Home Secretary looks with hope to the influence for good which the petitioners may each exercise.

An important conference attended by Nonconformist Ministers and laymen of the West of England took place at Bristol yesterday, when a resolution was adopted deploring the reactionary character of several of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Education, and urging the friends of popular education and religious equality to resist them to the utmost.

At Newmarket yesterday, the Houghton Handicap was won by Dolores, the Bletby Nursery Handicap by L'Avare, the Two Hundred Pound Plate by Noble Chieftain, the Feather Plate by Savant, the Cheviot Stakes by Workington, the Selling Nursery Plate by Burskimming, the Selling Plate by Trundle Hill, and the Free Handicap Sweepstakes by Sheen. In the Queen's Bench Division yesterday, Mr. Francis Ravenscroft sought to recover 1,000 upon a policy of insurance from the Provident Clerks and General Guarantee Association (Limited). He had deposited stock with an Italian railway company as security for Mr. O. Caygill, in carrying on business as a tourist agent and to protect himself obtained a policy of insurance from the defendants. Mr. Caygill became bankrupt, and the railway company retained the stock. The association however, maintained that they had only guaranteed against dishonesty, and that the amount due from Mr. Caygill to the railway company was merely a debt. A verdict was returned for Mr. Ravenscroft for the amount claimed.

A petition for divorce presented by Mr. E. G. Harding, a coffee planter, came yesterday before Mr. Justice Butt, who after hearing the evidence granted a decree nisi. Mr. Harding had found out, by means of a blotting-pad, that his wife had been writing in affectionate terms to the co-respondent, Mr. R. J. Farquharson, also a coffee planter.

Levi Richard Bartlett, an old man, was found guilty at the Central Criminal Court yesterday of murdering his wife at Poplar in August last. Mr. Justice Cave passed sentence of death.

At the same court, John Brown was found guilty of the murder of his wife at Westminster. As it appeared that he was insane at the time, he was ordered to be detained during her Majesty's pleasure.

At the meeting of the School Board for London yesterday two memorials were presented, objecting to the enlargement of a school in Hackney, and were referred to the Statistical Committee. The fourteenth general report of the Statistical Committee was presented. It was stated that in the eleven divisions of the Metropolis there was now a numerical excess of places amounting in the whole to 47,751 places. The reception of the report was agreed to.

Saturday, October 27.

Continuing his opening address before the Parnell Commission yesterday, the Attorney-General resumed his argument in regard to the operations of the National League, contending that outrages had followed the delivery of inflammatory speeches. He concluded shortly after three o'clock, having spoken altogether for about twenty-seven hours. The Court then adjourned till Tuesday next, when witnesses are to be called.

Letters from Mrs. Gladstone, Mr. J. Morley, and Mr. Childers were read at a meeting of the Protestant Home Rule Association held in Dublin last night.

Earl Spencer, at a great Liberal demonstration at Glasgow last night, quoted statistics to show the gravity of the land question in Ireland, and the necessity for a prompt and certain remedy. He defended Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy. It would, he held, certainly be victorious, and the Liberal party would gain the noble prize of statesmanship in the reconciliation of two long-separated peoples.

Speaking at York last night, Sir Henry James said that the first vote which the Dissentient Liberal gave that turned the present Government from office would be the vote of their own bitter condemnation.

The polling took place at Merthyr yesterday to fill the Parliamentary vacancy created by the death of Mr. Henry Richard. The counting of the votes was begun at eleven o'clock, and the result was to be made known at an early hour this morning.

The Lord Mayor yesterday distributed the prizes given by the Turners' Company to the successful competitors at the Turners' Exhibition, held this week at the Mansion House.

Reports last night pointed to the probability of the strike in the coal trade being extended to-day. At Newmarket yesterday the Houghton Stakes fell to Testator, the Old Nursery Stakes to Emerald, the Selling Plate to Chaplet colt, the Free Handicap to Antilles, the Two-year-old Selling Plate to Athol Lass, the Jockey Club Cup to Rive d'Or, and the Select Handicap to Phil; at Worcester, Bletby won the All-aged Selling Plate, Laddie the Deerpark Nursery Selling Handicap, Tottenham the City Welter Handicap and Harmedie the Mile Maiden Plate.

Mr. Justice Stirling, sitting in the Chancery Division, yesterday refused to grant an injunction to restrain the Royal Aquarium Company from carrying into effect any agreement for selling the building of the company.

An action for alleged libel, in which damages were laid at 5,000, was brought in the Queen's Bench Division yesterday by the Rev. Edward Roberts, a Nonconformist Minister at Cardiff, against the proprietors of the Western Mail. The statements complained of imputed that the plaintiff had acted improperly towards a girl who had been in his service. The hearing had not concluded at the rising of the Court.

A question as to whether a husband could be called upon to pay a balance due for millinery supplied to his wife arose in a case, Dudley and another v. Driffield, which came before Mr. Justice Hawkins and a common jury yesterday. The jury were however unable to agree, and judgment was given for the husband, it being also arranged that the plaintiffs might move a Divisional Court to set aside the decision.

At the Middlesex Sessions yesterday George Palmer, who was employed for over fifteen years as fireman at the Criterion Restaurant, was sentenced to six months' hard labour for stealing a quantity of mutton belonging to Messrs. Spiers and Pond, from the safe at the Criterion.

James McKell, the young man who was recently arrested on the charge of murdering John King by throwing him out of a railway carriage in the Harverstock Tunnel, was tried at the Central Criminal Court yesterday and found "Not Guilty."

Monday, October 29.

Sir George Trevelyan, addressing a crowded public meeting at Morpeth on Saturday night, declared that as the result of inquiries which he made when Chief Secretary for Ireland he came to the conclusion with some reluctance that the wish for Home Rule in Ireland depended not upon an agrarian feeling, but upon a deep feeling of a different origin which would last, and be as strong as ever even though the agrarian question were settled. What remained of crime, however, was agrarian, and was the result of omissions.

Mr. Pritchard Morgan has been elected member of Parliament for Merthyr Tydfil, in the place of the late Mr. Henry Richard. He polled 7,140 votes, against 4,950 given to Mr. Griffiths, and thus had a majority of 2,190.

Mr. J. D. Sheehan, M.P., was arrested at Killarney on Saturday evening, charged, with inciting tenants not to pay their rents. He was remanded by the magistrate for a week, bail being refused.

Yesterday an attempt was made to hold a meeting at Birrarduff, near Killarney, at which Mr. Thechan was to have spoken, but the proceedings were brought to a speedy termination by the intervention of the resident magistrates. Meanwhile an uninterrupted meeting, attended by tenants of Lord Kenmare and addressed by Mr. W. O'Brien, was held in the immediate vicinity.

The County Judge at Boyle, county Roscommon, on Saturday, heard Mr. O'Kelly's appeal from the sentence of four months' imprisonment passed upon him for taking part in an alleged unlawful assembly at Boyle last June. The term was reduced to two months, Mr. O'Kelly to be treated as a first-class misdemeanant.

The Rev. Hugh Chapman, Vicar of St. Luke's Camberwell, was to have preached in the Congregational Church, Camberwell New Road, yesterday morning, but, in consequence of a letter from the Bishop of Rochester, felt unable to fulfil the engagement. His sermon was, however, read by the Rev. W. Tubb, pastor of the Congregational Church.

The temperature in London on Friday night and Saturday morning was nearly 50 degrees higher than during the previous Saturday and Monday nights. Last evening rain began to fall, and continued for some hours.

The strike in the coal trade in Derbyshire and other districts is being settled by the masters conceding the advance in wage demanded by the men.

A collision has taken place at sea between the barque Earl Wemyss, of Glasgow, and the barque Ardencaple, of the same port. The former vessel sank in a few minutes. The latter was safely navigated to the Island of Fernando de Noronha. Sixteen lives were lost.

Professor Higgins, an Englishman, successfully imitated Mr. Baldwin's aeronautical feat on Saturday by ascending in a balloon near to Lea Bridge-road and descending by means of a parachute.

The Maori football team gained another success on Saturday, when they defeated Dunsbury by two dropped goals to nothing. The West Bromwich Albion were victorious over the Canadians by a goal to nothing.

The action for alleged libel brought in the Queen's Bench Division by the Rev. E. G. Roberts, lately minister of a Congregational Church at Cardiff, against the proprietors of the Western Mail, resulted on Saturday in a verdict being returned for the plaintiff, damages 5,000. Mr. Justice Stephen gave judgment for the amount with costs.

Lords Justice Cotton, Lindley, and Bowen on Saturday dismissed an appeal from a decision of Mr. Justice Kekewich, who had granted an injunction restraining Dr. Denham from using a house in the Brompton-road as a hospital for diseases of the throat, ear, eye, and skin contrary to a covenant in the lease. It has been arranged to carry on the hospital in other premises.

at Edgar Woolley at Merton on the 1st September last. There were some painful features in the case, and in the result the prisoner was discharged upon entering into recognisances to appear and receive judgment if called upon.
